Boodskap deur die Voorsitter

Ek sit die naweek en dink bietjie aan hoekom doen ons fotografie in die algemeen. Die meeste fotograwe wat fotografie doen kan opgewonde raak as die term genoem word. Dis toe dat die vraag by my opgekom het - hoe gebeur dit dan dat fotografie so baie mense gelukkig en opgewonde maak – dis amper ‘n soort van tower woord. Daar is baie mense wat fotografie gebruik om hulle aandag af te lei en te ontspan. Vir sommige fotograwe is dit ‘n baie lekker stokperdjie en ander word eintlik “professionele” fotograwe as ‘n mens die tyd en geld wat spandeer word, in ag neem.

Maar die passie vir fotografie is seker die belangrikste aspek wat bepaal hoeveel ‘n fotograaf sy/haar fotografie gaan geniet en/of hy/sy suksesvol gaan wees. Elke individue het egter sy eie planne en idees met wat hy/sy wil bereik en dan is die belangrikste maar net om ‘n kamera in die hand te hê en fotos te neem. Dis gewoonlik die satisfaksie wat ‘n fotograaf uit sy/haar fotos en ervarings put, wat maak dat dat daar nie ‘n omdraai kans is nie.

Dan besef ek net weer hoe gelukkig is ons klublede om deel van hierdie stimuleerende bedryf te kan wees. Daar is so baie generes – iets wat elke fotograaf/ potensieëlle fotograaf kan inspireer, want enige iets kan basies afgeneem word. Hier dink ek aan hoe groot en taai die kompetisie by ons klublede is, wanneer die tema “Wildlife” is. Maar die kreatiwiteit en uit-die-boks dink pogings as ‘n tema soos “Minimalisme” op die agenda is, word ook met groot oorgawe aangepak. Jy kan fokus op dit waarvan jy hou, maar jy kan so maklik enige iets anders ook afneem. Jy kan so baie dinge afneem met die kamera toerusting tot jou beskikking.

Jy kan die fotos op jou eie neem (gewoonlik verkieks die meer ernstige fotograwe hierdie opsie), jy kan dit in groepies doen (Ope dae) en hier hang dit af waarby (by wie) jy ingeskakel het. Dit kan ‘n gereeld foto sessies wees (bv. Ysbeer uitstappie) of dit kan onbeplan wees. Dit kan jou familie of kinders wees of vakansie fotos. Jy kan reis en dit spesifiek so beplan om op spesifieke plekke spesifieke goed te gaan afneem.

Die stemming of emosies word vasgevang - fotos met impak, laat net verwondering. As die fotos eers geneem is word dit ook dikwels graag met ander mense gedeel, want nijs anders kan jou prentjie wat jy afgeneem het, beter verduidelik as die foto(s)/videos wat jy geneem het nie.

Fotograwe ontmoet nuwe mense (waarvan party boesem vriende word) en gesels ‘n taal wat talle fotograwe so lekker oor kan gesels – sosiale klas maak nie saak nie.

Ons kan onself voorwaar baie gelukkig ag om so wonderlike stokperdtjie te kan hê wat soveel geleenthede en uitdagings bied om wat dan ook ons kreatiewe denke stimuleer.

Geniet jou fotografie met oorgawe en hou jou vinger op die kamera se knoppies.

Fotografiese wenke - Koos Fourie

Photography Tips and Techniques

1) High Speed Photography

One of the things that makes high speed photography most intriguing is that it freezes moments in time that are too fast for the naked eye to see. The trick to high-speed photography is a tripod, a narrow aperture, a flash, and lots of patience.

2) Night Photography

The fun starts when the sun goes down! There is plenty of life to capture after dark. For high-quality night photography, you will need a super-slow shutter speed, and a tripod or solid surface to steady your camera for long exposure. Don't forget to experiment with the rule of thirds as well, good old composition techniques are still valid here.

3) Motion Blur

Motion blur is the art of capturing a moving subject. This technique is often used in sports photography, but can also be used to create interesting images with light or fast-moving objects. To effectively capture motion blur, slow down your shutter speed, and hold your camera still as your subject moves. You can also "pan" with the camera, moving it along to follow the subject before releasing the shutter. This will keep your subject in focus while blurring out the background

4) Smoke Art Photography

Smoke art photography can be a challenging, yet extremely rewarding technique. Smoke trails create mysterious and captivating images that are intriguing, fascinating, and fun to capture.

5) Macro Photography

Macro photography is rewarding and unique. It's exciting to make huge images of subjects that are tiny, capturing minute details that are invisible to the human eye. The best way to make your macro photography stand out is to find subjects that are interesting and detailed. You can accomplish macro photography with just about any camera and lens, though the quality of the resulting images will vary depending on the equipment you use.

6) Long Exposure Photography

Long exposure photography can be used to achieve all kinds of interesting results, but it's particularly popular when it comes to landscapes. A longer exposure effectively blurs movement, resulting in silky smooth water or soft, streaking clouds.

7) Forced Perspective Photography

Forced perspective is a fun, visual play on depth perception – with sometimes hilarious results! When composing a forced perspective image, make sure your main subject is either larger or smaller than everything else. This involves experimenting with interesting angles, and positions for your subjects. Have fun!

8) Panoramic Photography

Even if you don't have an expensive camera, you can capture panoramic photographs through a technique known as "panorama stitching". This technique involves using a tripod, and taking a series of side-by-side photographs, and merging them together later on.

9) Traffic Light Trails

Traffic light trails are a popular subject, and a great way to get started with long exposure photography. To capture light trails, find a high traffic area in an otherwise dark location, set your tripod up, and use a slow shutter speed to blur the motion of the lights.

10) Painting with Light

Similar to traffic light trails, painting with light uses a long exposure to create illuminated "trails of light". This fun technique can be used to create artistic images, or to add a creative spin to a photoshoot. All you need is a dark location, a slow shutter speed, and a source of moving light such as a flashlight or sparkler.

11) Silhouettes

Silhouette photography is a fun and unique way to create dramatic photos. The best time for silhouettes is sunset or sunrise. To create the silhouette effect, position your subject in front of the sun, and shoot into the sun. A faster shutter speed will result in darker exposure, and a slower shutter speed will create a brighter image.

12) Pinhole Photography

Pinhole photography is actually the foundation of modern photography. A pinhole camera is a simple camera with no lens, and a single small aperture. Light passes in through this single point, and produces images. You can make a pinhole lens from your camera by drilling a small hole in a body cap. Have fun taking beautiful, motion blurred photos.

13) Zoom Blur Effect

The zoom blur effect is a simple way to add some creative looking "fractured-blur" effects to your photographs. To achieve the zoom blur effect, set a slow shutter speed and zoom in or out while releasing the shutter.

	Monochrome:- Aanvaarbaar Manipulasie:- Nie toegelaat nie

Minimalistiese fotografie is 'n vorm van fotografie wat onderskei word deur uiterste, streng eenvoud. Dit beklemtoon skaarsheid, negatiewe ruimte en fokus slegs op die kleinste aantal voorwerpe in die komposisieproses. Ses belangrike elemente in minimalistiese fotografie en waarom dit werk

2. Negatiewe ruimte Negatiewe ruimte is die element wat bepaal hoe vrylik die oog in die beeld rondbeweeg en die oog na 'n rusplek lei.
3. 'n Kragtige komposisie 'n Interessante plassing van die onderwerp skep 'n gevoel van gemak wanneer ons na die beeld kyk.
4. Isolasie Omdat die raam so min bevat, is dit belangrik om na te dink oor die aard van die onderwerp, en hoe die relevansie daarvan in die raam, 'n impak op die kyker sal hê.
5. Kleur Gewaagde kleure het beslis 'n plek in minimalisme.
6. Lyne en vorms Inleidende lyne lei die oë deur 'n prentjie en kan bydra tot die kyker se gevoel van isolasie, skeiding, afstand en skaal

Rules, regulations and sanctions

in other words what you can and can't do and what will happen if you break those rules.

There are probably well over 1000 salons you could enter each year if you count all of them worldwide – so the 28 of ours doesn't sound so much. However for each you have to download the brochure (entry form) and read it.

But how much do you actually read – probably just the “important” parts i.e. what categories, how much does it cost, when does it close and maybe who the judges are?

The rest of it is just as important and it is obvious from what is happening on our salons that everyone is not reading the rules.

PSSA takes this seriously and has decided to impose sanctions on entrants who break the rules (this is already being done by FIAP and other international societies). We are still deciding on the sanctions but in the meanwhile just to get everyone on the same page here is some information to help you interpret the rules correctly.

NAMING OF IMAGES

Each image must have a unique name i.e. the name of the image may not be changed at any time as all acceptance records are based on the image name.

What this means is that even if you convert the image from colour to mono, or from digital to print, it must always have the same title. You can't add anything to that title to indicate that it is version 2, or bw or print etc.

It's OK when you upload your pics to Photovault, there you can have the additions to the title to tell yourself which ones they are but you must make sure that when you complete the entry form that you give it the correct title.

SAME OR SIMILAR

Similar implies that it is almost the same time, or almost the same place, or almost the same situation – just another frame in an action series or a different crop is not necessarily sufficiently different to make it a different image – by being almost the same it is a similar shot.

This is true in any genre be it portrait, landscape, creative, nature etc. The change could be in lighting, or action, or composition etc.

Any image, which is sufficiently similar to another, such as these may be ruled ineligible
as being effectively the same Image.

Rules, regulations and sanctions

Can DANCE be entered into the SPORTS category? NO not in PSSA Salons.

While our definition appears to allow Dance to be entered in the Sports section as Dance is "an active pastime and does involve physical exertion", the Board has decided that it will not be allowed in the sport section in salons. There are obviously many arguments against this ruling but please be aware that you should enter your dance images in the Open category in any PSSA Salons.

The Dance of the Beauty - Nicol du Toit

Elk in Mist - the title must stay the same when converting from colour to mono

In order to make it a different image you would need the whole situation to change, not just a paw or a tail, a splash ...

Photographic Society of South Africa

Rules, regulations and sanctions

The fundamental rule that must be observed at all is that the welfare of living creatures is more important than any photograph. This means that practices such as baiting of subjects with a living creature and removal of birds from nests, for the purpose of obtaining a photograph, are highly unethical. Under no circumstances may a living creature be placed in a situation where it will be killed, injured or stressed for the purpose of obtaining a photograph. This rule applies regardless of whether or not the creature being killed, injured or stressed is visible in the captured image.

MANIPULATION

Manipulation is not allowed in Nature and Photo Journalism and shall constitute any or all of the following modifications to the original image:

- Adding an element to the image that was not contained in the original scene – many images are being enhanced by the addition of dust into an image to create mood – what is that if not adding an element that was not contained in the original scene?
- Removing an element from the image that was contained in the original scene; Grass in front of a Lion's face is often considered a distraction and is easy to remove ... but it is manipulation and therefore not allowed.
- Darkening of the background to hide unwanted elements or to produce an unnatural looking image, is not allowed.

NO MAN-MADE OBJECTS

Nature images are not allowed to contain people or things created by people unless the objects are a necessary part of the nature story.

The basic requirement is that any evidence of human activity in an image MUST be "a necessary part of the Nature story".

A simple way of looking at this is to ask the question: If the human element was not present, would there be an image that told a nature story? If the answer is "No" then the human element is a necessary part of the nature story – without the human element there would be no story to capture.

In other words a waterhole is manmade and if it was not there then there would be nowhere for the animals to drink – so it is a necessary part of the nature story.

Examples of things that have been created by people or modified by people and are not allowed in nature images include but are not limited to: roads, paths, vehicle tracks, signs, vehicles etc. that are not a necessary part of the nature story.

Be honest and comply with the spirit of these rules.

Caracal Portrait - the background has been modified and therefore this is not eligible in the nature section and must be entered in the Open or other non-nature section.

Photographic Society of South Africa

Rules, regulations and sanctions

Transgressing and interpreting the nature rules is a worldwide problem and FIAP and PSA have been working together to update their nature rules.

PSA have published "A Guide for Nature Photographers and Judges" which has given much clarity to many of the "grey" areas and we quote from it with permission from the main author, Dr Roy Killen, APSA, GMPSA/B, EFIAP, APSEM and PSA.

The full document can be found on our website at

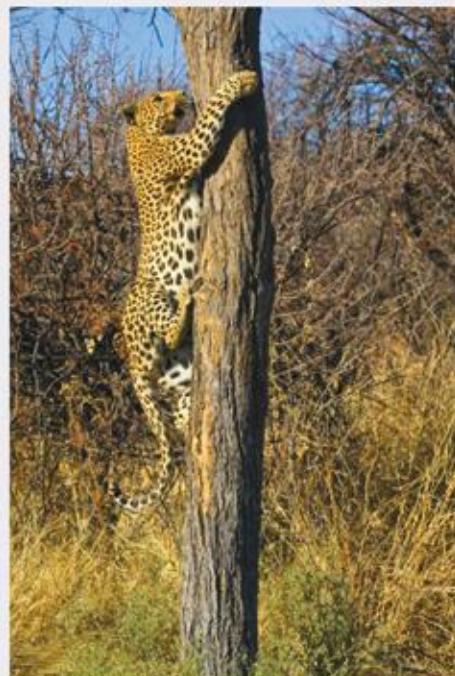

<https://www.pssa.co.za/salons-mainmenu-81/pssa-salon-scene/psa-guide-for-nature-photographers-judges>

NATURE or WILDLIFE

We often hear the words Nature and Wildlife used to describe natural history photography – they are not one and the same – all wildlife images are nature but not all nature is wildlife.

To be called wildlife, zoological specimens must be "living free and unrestrained in a natural or adopted habitat of their own choosing". The subject must not be under any form of restraint or restriction by humans.

Animals in large nature reserves (such as Kruger National Park in South Africa) are suitable wildlife subjects. However, animals in zoos, on game farms or in any situation where their movement or food supply is controlled by humans, are not suitable wildlife subjects.

For some wildlife, the adopted habitat may be an environment that has been modified by humans but the wildlife must be in that location of its own free will.

Zoological subjects (any form of fauna) must not be removed from their natural habitat for the purpose of wildlife photography, nor should they be under any form of control or restraint by humans. This includes reptiles, amphibians and insects.

This leopard was photographed in a large enclosure in a private reserve and is reliant on man for its food and is therefore not a wildlife subject.

It can however be entered in nature.

The piece of meat which has obviously been prepared by man does not enhance the photograph and therefore one wouldn't enter that image.
